Greetings Borealis,

Thank you to those that have brought newcomers to Borealis. For where would we be without new friends to share in our fun!

We would just like to congratulate you all for your commitment to living The Dream. Our twice-weekly heavy & rapier fight practices are being well attended, archery is flourishing, monthly A&S nights are turning into a "Borealis sweat shop" with all the projects being undertaken, the culinary guild with their pledge to prepare wonderful feasts and dancers promising to "entertain" you at Yule. If it was not for your leadership, support and commitment to the various disciplines and activities in the Barony of Borealis.... where would we be?

How to Find an Acceptable SCA Name

By Her Ladyship Arwyn of Leicester

Welcome. You have now discovered the SCA but you need to find a SCA name that you can use. Some herald may have confused you about registration, submitting, research and documentation. Do not panic! Although I am one of the "heralds", I will attempt to make this process less complicated. Here, we will discuss why you should have an acceptable SCA name, where to find it and why you may want to register it.

Acceptable versus Registered

Our Society recreates Europe or areas that contacted Europe prior to 1600 A.D that is defined as "period". To fully blend into our backdrop, we often choose names to be more "period" and allow us to believe that we are "living the dream" of the middle ages. If we choose names with period content and style, we feel that the name attempts to recreate the atmosphere of medieval life.

A registered name goes to Kingdom and then onto the SCA College of Arms (often referred to as Laurel) to ensure that it is period but also to ensure that it is not offensive or presumptuous. This process also checks that no one else has that name or can be confused as that person. But until the name is accepted by Laurel, we would use an "acceptable SCA" name.

An acceptable SCA name is one that could be documented or constructed with period content and style. Then you can introduce yourself and not feel that you are still in the twenty-first century. Also, we also need to maintain the dignity of the Society within and to the outside world. Offensive names (towards race, religion, etc) are not funny and should not be used since it may reduce the fun for someone else. We also cannot claim power, status or relationships that we do not have. Ranks are earned and recognized by the Crown.

Although you can use any name, only acceptable SCA names have a chance for registration. Initially, the name is not overly important because few people know who you are. However, once you start calling yourself that, people will start recognizing you as that name. So, if you are unclear on what you want, simply use your "out of Society" or legal name. Once you have an acceptable name, most of us will convert quickly to your new name. So, do not rush it.

As you do more research into what you like in the SCA, you may discover what time period, country or culture that excites you. You may join a household, be part of a guild, and find an art or science that could lead you to your acceptable SCA name. Waiting is best while you figure it out. But do not get into the "persona trap". You do not have to have a fully documented persona before you get your name. Here is some advice.

The heralds are not extremely interested in your persona. Where you are from, how you got there, etc is not critical to accepting the submission as long as it meets the period content and style requirements. A very wise herald once told me:

"Dear. You need not worry so much about your persona. You have just started in the SCA and over time you probably will change your garb, time period and culture at least once over ten years. Do not get hung up making sure your name matches your current persona because you do not know what you will be ten years from now. Just find something that you like and can represent you."

Good advice! In fact, I did time shift for a little while but in the end came back to my original persona. However, not everyone does. But where do you find documentation or good name sources?

How to Find Document Sources

The SCA College of Arms has a list of good sources that provide adequate documentation and bad sources that do not. Good sources generally are based upon primary resources, a document written within our time period chronicling the names, deeds, assets, etc. If the back of the book indicates a significant bibliography, it may be OK. A couple on-line sources can be found from the Laurel website <http://www.sca.org/heraldry/laurel/names.html> which have been developed from the Laurel staff. If you are having difficulty, the Academy of Saint Gabriel has a database to find their previous research reports and can help people find documentation. They also have a great listing of name documents and can be found at <http://www.s-gabriel.org/names/>.

Not so good sources titles normally start with the "Name your baby" or "What in a Name?". Although they indicate origin, standard name your baby books do not have a good bibliography nor can they provide dates. "Name your baby books" and those that Laurel has deemed "unacceptable" are written for a different audience, for people looking for general information not documenting actual names for use in the SCA. Laurel has compiled a list of unacceptable books which can be found in the Administrative Handbook, Appendix F. See http://www.sca.org/heraldry/laurel/admin.html#APPENDIX_F

If you cannot find something in the good sources, talk to a herald (myself, Jean, Owen). If your culture is not listed, talk to a herald. They have access to further resources and maybe find what you want.

Why Registration?

Once we have an acceptable name, why should we register one? In An Tir and Avacal, we have not restricted anyone from lack of registration. We do not stop anyone from receiving an AoA, fighting in Crown, becoming a peer, etc.

However, we need a registered name to register a device or any other heraldic submissions (heralds call this the "primary society name"). Our legal name connects us to the world outside the SCA; our SCA name connects us to the Current Middle Ages. The SCA name provides a "file folder name" for all your other submissions. So, if you want your device or badge to be protected so no one else can have it, you will need to register your name as well.

You can register your name, device and badge together as one package. Or you can start your name and then submit your device or badge later. As long as your name is in the process, any heraldic submission after that can be done.

Where Do I Go From Here?

Start looking at the sources we talked about. Contact your local herald. Ask at a submission consulting table. We will attempt to find something that will work and could get registered eventually.

If you want to get something officially registered, your local herald can help with the submission forms (where to find it, how many copies, and where to send it).

Of course, next article.. how to design a device or badge.

Sad News

At the end of September, 2011 many of our local members were saddened to hear of the passing of Jack Silver.

Jack was a rapier fighter who resided in Traders Gate (Jasper) and was a driving force in the advancement of Rapier Fighting for the areas in and around Alberta.

He was instrumental in the advancement of the use of the Rubber Band Guns and growing the War part (or group fighting) of the Rapier fights at the Winter War and Quad War events. He was best known for the popular and off the wall Zulu Dawn and Zombie scenarios, which were his creations.

Many of us bought our first fencing masks through Jack, and were also able to travel to the Rapier Symposiums that he organized over the years.

It has been decided that the third building to be built at Raper City out at the Quad War site will be dedicated to Jack Silver.

He is survived by his wife, Molly Black, and their 2 children, Roland and Mira.

He will be missed by all who were fortunate to have known him.

The Proper Attitude

By H.L. Dante Machiavelli

Proper attitude for Rapier in the SCA has had little encouragement in the past and no guidelines for the uninitiated to our craft. The following is my opinion regarding the attitude and behavior of the honorable Swordsman in the SCA.

We should always respect our teachers and our colleagues. Here we honor our foundations. In the fighting circle, we must never forget to salute our opponents and shake hands after bouting. In tournament, we show respect for those who officiate our bouts for without them the competition would be chaos.

To me the swordsman who intimidates their opponents with brutality of blade movement or downright, knockdown fencing, or who attempts to side track an adversary through obnoxious, argumentative behavior, is an ignorant amateur, a thoroughly bad swordsman showing little regard for their learning or the institution of the SCA. Beat your opponent with superior blade movement, timing, distance and strategy. Entering the field with malicious intent is positively repugnant and will not be tolerated by anyone

We acknowledge good hits. When we cheat, we cheat not only our opponents but also ourselves, because we rob ourselves of the truth of the sword and cease to grow as swordsmen.

We engage against anyone who asks us to a friendly crossing of blades. We can always learn from both good and bad swordsmen. We admire the expert touch and look with tolerance on the less than adequate swordsmen. Everyone starts in the same place, awkward and unknowing.

To act in any way but the above mentioned manner would denigrate the art of the sword. We maintain a sense of good will, we persevere, we are patient, we always strive to do our best and we take pride in the fact that we can do something very unique in our modern day society. We express our respect constantly for the art of the rapier and, therefore, demonstrate through our unflagging loyalty, our own personal honor. Such sentiments are often looked upon with cynicism in today's world. But the rapier attempts to ground us, give us a sense of accomplishment and purpose.

No matter what anyone else tells you, standards count.

This month will see the end of our efforts in making decorations for the tree that is going to be going into the Festival of Trees for 2011.

We have this month's Tavern to work on stuff, and the last possible day to work on any of the decorations as a group will be the November's Arts and Sciences night.

If you are making ornaments, and you are unable to make either this month's Tavern, or this month's A&S Night, then could you please contact me at yamadif@yahoo.ca

to make arrangements to hand off your creations so that they can be included in this year's effort.

Galeana has offered to do this year's tree topper. She along with our Baroness Divera have offered to look after getting a unique tree skirt made for us.

The decorating of the actual tree will be done at the Shaw Conference Centre on Monday November 28th. I will be there at about 4:00 in the afternoon, so come on out after that.

Last year, we had about 18 people come out and decorate the tree so it only took a couple of hours.

Medieval Dance

15 people came out for the Buffens practice on Sunday October 23, and 16 people were able to come out for the practice on Sunday October 30th! This is the dance that will be performed during Yule Feast this year.

For those that are interested, there is a Borealis Dance page set up on Facebook. You don't have to be a member of facebook to look at it. The url is <http://www.facebook.com/groups/104516599634248/>

There is a running log of steps, passage descriptions etc for those who are interested.

Some other source material to take a look at;

<http://graner.net/nicolas/arbeau/orcheso24.php>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7XhesSPT9Sk&feature=related>

There is also a social dance being planned. This is open to anyone who is interested in dance. Cath is hoping to have it set up for Sunday 27, 2011. More information will be posted as the arrangements are made.

Archery News

Saturday November 26 was the last weekend for any of the archers to shoot and record their scores for the Royal Rounds for the 10-11 season. Ro-Bear held the practice out at his parents place where people who wished to shoot cross bows were able to do so.

There was also a opportunity to get some practice in at shooting at a 30 and 40 yard target. The regular practices that are held out at the at Capital Region Archery Club on most Tuesdays are still being held. Contact Either Somerled, Myself, Phealon, or any other archer for directions.

Hello everyone!

The next demo we are scheduled to do is on December 3 for EBA Engineering Consultants. The event will be held at the Enjoy Centre in St. Albert (Where the new Hole's Greenhouse is) and we are asked to do a demo from 6 - 7:30 p.m.

For this demo, we will need:

- ~ 2-4 heavy fighters
- ~ 2-4 fencers
- ~ 4-6 dancers (if possible)
- ~ 3-4 people just there to help answer questions, herald, set up, do ...
- ~ some arts and sciences stuff...just other things to help show we are not just about fighting
- ~ And a few musicians (2 at least, more the merrier).

I know this is usually Christmas Party season (in fact, that's what this demo is for!), but I would really love to see everyone out, especially since they are creating their Christmas party around us.

Please email me and let me know if you can make it. I would really, really appreciate it.

Thanks!
